

Sornhill at a Glance

splinter sect of Procan. Known as the Stormseekers they are led by Iseln Guiral and believe that their god manifests himself in the midst of storms and tempests. As a result of their desire to worship as close to their deity as possible membership of this group is small.

Prior to the invasion Sornhill was a centre of shipbuilding on the Dragonshead but Brotherhood forces destroyed the 3 shipyards here before fleeing the town. Two of the yards, Patriis Monir's and Gershimon Iilinski's are now operational although Harnshir Jarome's is beyond repair – being little more than mounds of tumbled stone and charred wood.

Haven Town: The most cramped and squalid portion of Sornhill, Haven Town was home to many who could afford to dwell nowhere else. Here the streets are narrow and windy with many buildings packed close together. Open spaces here are rare, although there is a series of wells for the use of the inhabitants.

Osprem's Light: Originally built by the Suel, Osprem's Light has guided sailors safely into port for centuries. Located across the bay from the town it commands the approaches to Sornhill proper. Currently Osprem's Light is the focus of much of the skirmishing being carried out in the area. Military strategy dictates that he who controls the temple controls access to Sornhill. Recent hochebi assaults have come close to capturing the installation, the largest of these were repelled due to attack plans falling into rebel hands.

The Hanging Gardens: Just outside the walls of Sornhill can be found a small copse of trees known as the Hanging Gardens. It is here that criminals and brigands were sentenced to death for their crimes. Many lawbreakers have been buried here, giving rise to several gruesome legends about this stand of trees.

Local Lore: The first known settlement of any size on the site of present-day Sornhill was founded by the suel after the Great Migrations. Subjugating the local flan tribes they built a small bastion and town, parts of which including the Red Tower and Osprem's Light are still visible today. Much of the town was destroyed however when the oerids swept through the region in the late 590s or. They subsequently resettled the area, repairing the shattered fortifications of the town and constructing further defences. Desiring further protection they threw a wall around the whole town and built additional fortifications around the Red Tower, which became known as Stormhaven. It was the Oerids that dictated the layout of the town that still survives to this day. Prior to the Wars the population of Sornhill reached the 3000 mark and some building had taken place beyond the town walls. The invasion of the Brotherhood dealt a sharp check to this growth however and today the population is no more than 2200.

The Fall: The story of the fall of Sornhill is much the story of the fall of Onnwal. Here, as elsewhere, treachery played a full part in the defeat of the proud Onnwalons. Rohal Soldas, the then mayor of Sornhill, admitted a small highly skilled strike force into Stormhaven. In the ensuing struggle almost the entire Relaster family was captured or killed. Simultaneous assaults against Osprem's Light, although at first repulsed, rendered the garrison unable to engage the Brotherhood fleet that sailed into Notxia Bay on the morning tide.

As wave after wave of fresh Brotherhood troops clashed in the streets with tired and confused defenders, Rohal committed his last treachery striking the Green and Gold of Onnwal and replacing it with the scarlet flag of the invaders. This last heinous act arguably took the fight out of those still resisting and most resistance quickly collapsed.

One man, Barrend Deshend a young marine officer, refused to surrender however and fought a desperate rearguard action with a small group of his fellows allowing The Tempest, packed to the gunwhales with refugees and wounded, to escape to sea.

Occupation: The occupation of Sornhill was a grim affair. The Kesh of the town, Kekarav Madi, was a fervent Brotherhood hard-liner and the people of Sornhill suffered greatly under his authority. Rohal Soldas, the infamous traitor was richly rewarded by his scarlet masters and was put to work rooting out troublemakers and members of the resistance. Many Onnwalons were slain, and still more disappeared on vessels bound for Scant. Brotherhood agents here were also able to successfully infiltrate the local Wreckers cell. As a result most of the members of the cell were tortured and then publicly executed.

Liberation: The folk of Sornhill were prostrate before the Scarlet Sign until late in Patchwall 589 cy when rebel forces launched a spectacular surprise attack against Osprem's Light cutting the town off from Brotherhood re-supply.

Rebel Artillerists sank one Brotherhood vessel and severely damaged 2 more that tried to relieve the beleaguered town during a short winter siege lasting into the early days of 590 cy. In Fireseek Brotherhood forces were forced by the worsening supply situation to attempt a breakout from the town. Under cover of diversionary hochebi assaults on outlying rebel pickets Kekarav Madi's personal vessel, the Scarlet Death slipped its moorings. Braving sustained (and accurate) catapult fire from Osprem's Light it broke the Rebel cordon and disappeared into the night. An attendant vessel, the Scarlet Rage, was not so lucky and fell foul to rebel attacks.

Kekarav Madi and Rohal Soldas personal fates are unknown, as neither body has ever been found. Many suspected that Kekarav Madi is not dead and has again returned to the area intent on taking back what he views as rightfully his.
